Dear Park City Planning Commission,

I am a homeowner in Old Town – 15 King Road. We have been active skiers in Park City for the past 15 years and we plan to retire to Old Town in a few years to enjoy its wonderful activities and features for all of its seasons. We fell in love with Park City because it is a “real” town (versus a destination resort) and has maintained its rustic and historical features. We love what the Planning Commission has done to keep Old Town true to its history and character – it is unique!

We are completely appalled at the proposed Treasure Mountain development in any form and we hope you can find other property in the area away from Old Town to achieve a solution. Besides the fact the development would completely destroy the historical feel and look of Park City – it would overwhelm Old Town with its traffic and congestion and undue decades of careful stewardship the Commission has provided in thoughtfully maintaining the beauty and feel of Park City.

Respectfully,

Jack and Harriet Snyder
